A Roll Away Kiss

You want her,
but your best friend is such a charming, young man who can dance with the best, and with just a passing glance he slips inside your humble embrace to sweep the young girl's heart away, loving the one you cannot have,
and leaving you with the lonely ones who stand along the sidelines,
... the pages fly by ...
... the pages fly by ...
much faster than time can recall, the pale fragrance of a love song written but never played, solemn words fall clumsy at such a fresh and gentle age, and although chocolate-covered lies seem to hide well behind moonlit eyes when whispered words caress, and fall smooth past parted lips:
... the pages fly by ...
... the pages fly by ...
much faster than love can recall, the bona fide promises made on a night that was swept away by dawn of the very next day.
